

PHILANTHROPY

By Kim Haman

By: KIM HARMAN (OCBJ) — Feb. 4, 2019

TUSTIN, CA — Tustin-based PriorityWorkforce, a staffing company that places more than 25,000 employees at 650 companies annually, launched a non-profit called Off the Street, Back to Work, or OTSBTW, to help those living on the streets.

Operating as a separate entity, OTSBTW finds and secures meaningful jobs for the homeless and formerly homeless that matches their skills, including blue-collar, administrative, and management posts. The goal is to engender a constant sense of inspiration for these once homeless individuals, so they can be motivated to lead more stable, productive lives.

Creating the Solution

▶ John Porrello, CEO and founder, PriorityWorkforce

Orange County Business Journal

Vol. 42, No. 5 | February 4-10, 2019

Off the Street, Back to Work

A 501.c Non-profit Foundation